

Abstract

How can natural gas energy contribute to reconcile economic development and environment? What type of energy is to be chosen? If this question is answer, the best compromise solution is the optimal solution of the equation including, development, energy and environment brought the natural gas, the question is to look permanently for the best energy exploitation of the natural gas for product quality