

Abstract

In this paper, the existence of solutions for an initial value problem of a fractional differential equation is obtained by means of Mönch's fixed point theorem and the technique of measures of noncompactness