

Abstract :

In this paper, a seminumerical approach based on the method of lines for the analysis of semiconductor structures is presented. The two-dimensional electric potential distribution is obtained by solving Poisson's equation using the developed scheme.